Now With F.M.L.

FOR...

Former Gov. Price Daniel has announced support for all the constitutional revision to be voted Tuesday. He joins a list of distinguished Texans knowledgeable in government and law endorsing all eight propositions on the ballot.

The incumbent governor opposes all eight. Former Gov. Preston Smith voiced opposition only to the proposition on "annual sessions." Former Gov. John Connally has not reiterated support for revision since supporting constitutional revision while in office.

For those who are confused by the alternatives of voting for or against, these incumbent or former Texas chief executives may give some idea of the span of support.

Perhaps most significant among endorsers of all eight of the constitutional elements is the approval for all eight propositions by all the deans of the law schools in Texas. We repeat: ALL the deans of Texas law schools.

Heading support for an under-financed revision group is Former Supreme Court Justice Robert W. Calvert. The deans of Texas' schools of law know the difference between passable and better in constitutions.

So does Leon Jaworski, the Watergate and Nuremberg Trials prosecutor of Houston. So do the lieutenant-governor, the speaker of the Texas House, the former speaker of the Texas House, the attorney-general, the land commissioner, all supporting the whole proposal.

So do State Sen. Bill Patman and State Rep. Dan Kubiak, who acknowledge "the proposed constitution is not a perfect document, but it is far superior to the old."

Texas Manufacturers Association and East Texas Chamber of Commerce have come out in polls or votes of boards of directors against the proposition. So have many realtors and county government organizations.

Supporters for all or many of the propositions include veterans groups, retired persons organizations, teachers groups, Texas Farmers Union.

NOW-NOW-NOW

Former Gov. Daniel says: "I believe it (the revision) will be a real improvement for the people and the government of our state."

"By adoption of the proposed revision the people will enable the governor, the legislature, and the courts to serve them more effectively and economically."

Speaking of courts, four former Texas Bar presidents have endorsed Proposition 2--the judiciary article--including Leroy Jeffers, Thomas Phillips, Jaworski, and Joyce Cox, formerly of Cameron.

NOW-NOW-NOW

Which brings it to this newspaper and this columnist, the former belied by the sometime irreverent comment of the latter.

We, The Herald and I, vote FOR. We vote for ALL of it. If we must interpret what a Texas constitution means, let the courts interpret the future, not the past.

Light Turnout Expected By State Officials

Texas state officials are predicting a light vote for Tuesday's constitution election at which voters will decide whether to adopt a new charter to replace the state's 100-year-old document.

Absentee voting in the county has been light, according to the county clerk's office, with 20 persons voting absentee in person, seven ballots returned by mail and seven ballots requested by mail but not yet returned.

Last-minute pleas to vote for and against were being issued by some state officials, including Gov. Dolph Briscoe who is against the adoption of the new constitution. House Speaker Bill Clayton and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby have both endorsed passage of the measure, as have State Senator Bill Patman of Gano and State Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale.

Polls in the county will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday, at the following voting boxes with listed election judges:

Cameron Pct. 1 (courthouse) Felix Matula; Cameron Pct. 2 (Community Center), Mrs. Glenda Moseley; Salem Mrs. Vaughan Jenness; Ad Hall, Mrs. Bob Kalkbrenner; Elm Ridge, E. H. Boedecker; Maysfield, Mrs. Marguerite Massengale.

Jones Prairie, Mrs. Helen Jamison; Milam, Mrs. H. O. Haddox; Gause, G. R. Varner; Marlow, Morris Coward; Rockdale Box 15, American Legion Hall, Mrs. Inez Schukraft; Rockdale Box 16, junior high gym, Mrs. W. C. Marrs; Minerva, Mrs. Paul Jenkins;

Davilla, Bill C. Burke; Sharp, L. A. Petty; Buckholts, Mrs. Joe Sevcik; Burlington, Frank Jahn; Ben Arnold, W. E. Kosel; Yarrington, Rodney Barker; Thorndale, Mrs. D. M. Phillips.

New Recreation Spot In Making

A new dam over the San Gabriel River now under construction will furnish Central Texans with a new recreation spot, with Granger Lake scheduled to be flooded sometime in 1978.

Construction of the dam, one of a three-dam program to control tributaries of the Brazos River, is now centered on the 100-foot tall cement intake tower which will release water from the lake into a conduit through hydraulic gates.

Contracts on construction of the dam embankment will be opened November 5.

More than 7,000 acres around the Granger dam will be reserved for recreation facilities and wildlife preserves when the dam is finished and the lake is filled.

Ron Zunker, supervisory civil engineer for the Corps of Engineers dam project, said that 1,385 acres of parks and recreation areas with picnic tables, boat ramps, and camp sites will be developed by the Corps and the Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife.

Zunker said four parks have been authorized. Friendship Park, 380 acres closest to the dam, will have 50 picnic tables, camp sites with water, fireplaces, electrical hookups, group shelters, one three-lane boat ramp, and toilets and showers.

Taylor Park, 395 acres, at the south end of the lake, will have 50 picnic tables and one three-lane boat ramp. Willis Creek Park, 225 acres, will be used mostly by fishermen with only a boat ramp and several picnic tables.

Wilson H. Fox Park, 385 acres, will have 100 utility equipped camp sites, 62 picnic tables, a group shelter, one two-lane boat ramp, and one four-lane boat ramp.

The wildlife refuge areas separate the parks around the lake. Zunker said any group of animals in the area on the verge of extinction will be protected in the park with special roosting places or nests constructed by the state park department.

He said hunting in the area will be prohibited after February 1976, though special regulations may permit dove and quail hunting next fall.

Zunker said bids will be taken in coming months to move plots of three cemeteries and FM 971 which will be covered by the lake, clear the lake area, and construct recreational facilities.

He said all shore-line land is government-owned, and none will be available for private development.

Fire Ant Control Program To Resume

Federal participation in the imported fire ant control program will be resumed immediately under terms of a "memorandum of understanding" announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

The agreement--signed by USDA Under Secretary J. Phil Campbell and EPA Deputy Administrator John R. Quarles, Jr.--came as a result of recent technological advances in formulating the pesticide mirex, the principal chemical weapon used to destroy fire ants.

"Limited tests of a new bait have shown very promising results," Quarles said. "They indicate the new bait could reduce the amount of actual toxicant applied per acre by approximately 75 percent per treatment. It is hoped that this new bait would reduce potential harm to the environment. The agreement, however, does not include an acreage restriction. The agreement will also provide a closer working relationship between the two agencies, thereby benefiting residents of the fire ant infested areas," Quarles added.

According to Under Secretary Campbell, the new bait would give USDA a more effective program because it would provide greater flexibility. "This, in turn, would be of tremendous help to southern homeowners and farmers now plagued by fire ants," Campbell said. "If this new bait proves effective under actual field conditions --and it meets EPA's environmental safety criteria--we would hope to eventually return to three treatments within a two-year period and controlled applications over coastal counties."

Fire ants--which entered the U.S. on cargo shipped from South America to Mobile Ala., in 1918--inflict very painful stings on people and animals, even leading to death in extreme situations. In addition, they build large earth mounds in fields and yards, interfering with farming operations and outdoor activities.

Over 133 million acres are known to be infested with fire ants in both suburban and rural areas in the nine southern states of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Texas.

USDA has conducted cooperative programs with these infested states since 1957, and has been using mirex bait since 1962.

BOOSTING COUNTY INCOME--Duncan McGregor, center, Alcoa Rockdale Works plant manager, delivers the company's check for taxes in the amount of $166,723.53 to County Tax Collector Valter White, right, while County Judge O. B. Harden looks on. The check is the largest tax payment for the county.

Museum Faces Collection Loss

A treasure in rare frontier firearms may be lost from the Ft. Fisher Texas Ranger Museum in Waco when a $300,000-plus gun collection is sold in Austin this November. Some 100 items now in the Waco museum will go on the auction block when the famous Joe W. Bates gun collection will be liquidated in an estate sale.

Second Wildcat Spudded

A test well for oil and gas on the Ben Waller ranch northwest of Gatesville was spudded in last week and is ticketed as a 4,200-foot project. It is one of four tests set by Dallas Production Inc. of Dallas in the West-Central Texas area, and is the second wildcat to be drilled in Coryell County this summer.

Crisis Shelter Asks Funds

The Bell County Juvenile Probation Officer is proceeding with paper work to request a $60,000 grant to establish a juvenile crisis shelter program. The program would provide a place for youngsters from 10 to 16 years old, rather than be put in jail. Average stay per child would be 10 days, though some would be for a few hours and others for as much as 30 days.

Ambulance Service Troubled

Williamson County Commissioners failed to decide how the county's troubled ambulance service might be operated during 1976. Following a two-hour morning session dominated by discussion of the service, the commissioners reconvened after lunch to determine whether the contracts for the service should be renewed. The service currently operates at a large deficit in the five cities which hold contracts.

United Way Campaign Falters

South Milam County's United Way campaign recorded only $900 in contributions and pledges during the last week, raising the total to $17,120--or about 70 percent of the goal of $24,125. "Unless the drive takes a jump during the next few days," the chairman said, "we could be in trouble. It would be a shame for this drive, which aids so many worthwhile agencies, to miss its goal."

Bell Asks Rate Increase

Hearne city council heard a representative from Southwestern Bell say that Bell's level of earning on local telephone service was dangerously low. He said that the rate of return on Hearne telephone service for the 12 months ending Dec. 31, 1974 actually resulted in a net loss of more than $47,000. He then made a pitch for an increase in telephone rates in the city.

Restoring Monarchy...

A dictator is dying, or dead by reading time, and a 37-year-old prince steps to a newly restored throne.

Francisco Franco is the dictator, 36 years in power, and Prince Juan Carlos is heir apparent, handpicked by Franco from an old-line Spanish family to be trained for succession.

Francisco's death will confirm Juan Carlos' rise to a premiership.

Opposition will develop in the Spanish parliament or perhaps in the streets and neighborhoods of Madrid and other Spanish cities.

It is the first restoration of monarchy in more than a generation in Europe, perhaps two generations. Monarchies are largely ornamental. But dictators and military juntas often tend toward the monarchical thrust of power.

This is the case in Franco, the longest-lived absolute dictator in modern history. It was the case in Napoleon, who crowned himself emperor or king of France, and who was succeeded by a restoration of the French monarchy upon his exile.

Francisco's belief in such concentration of power came out of the Spanish Civil War in 1936-37. He also knew a lot about the Spanish people's inability to rally to challenges like their domineering ancestors of the 15th and 16th centuries.

Spain never quite recovered from the dominance of the high seas by Britain in the 1600s. Her explorers, churchmen, and military captured most of what is South and Central America and most of what is now the Southwest United States. This was under the Spanish royal dynasty.

Spain defended against the Moors as far back as 900 A.D. The Moslem Moors occupied Southern Spain for about 300 years, until driven back, literally, into the Mediterranean Sea.

A dictator of more than a generation knows a lot about his people, more than exercising power over them.

If the capacity to rally had been within them, the Spanish people would have overthrown Franco long ago.

It is significant that Franco began grooming a royal successor about 30 years ago. He saw even then, or thought he saw, the need for continuity in leadership, a symbol the Spanish people might respect.

Spain is one of the least developed countries of Europe, by Western standards. Manuel Orantes, recent winner of the U. S. Open in an upset over Jimmy Connors, is one of Spain's best exports.

But conditions in England and Ireland, for example, are not that much better for all the upheavals of the past century. England is in decline. Spain apparently is at plateau.

Juan Carlos is to oversee this. If Franco's judgment is awry, opposition will find the popular support to overthrow this modern monarchy before it solidifies loyalties to the transition.

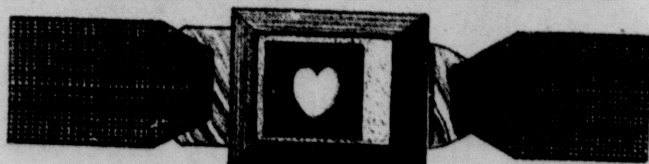

It is remarkable to see what really motivates dictators. They fight to gain control over a country, overthrowing whatever opposition might be: communist, monarch, constitution. And then they set about stabilizing authority which in the case of Napoleon and Franco, was restoration of absolute rule, returning to a royal line.

American presidents are inadvertently crowned by people who since Watergate look less to the White House for solutions. So we are little different from our European ancestors, though we have been electing the Roosevelts, the Trumans (who stepped away from the trapings), the Kennedys (he "walks like a prince, talks like a scholar"), the Johnsons, the Nixons.

Francisco apparently saw in the Spanish people a desire to keep their problems in the hands of a symbol. And Franco at his death is passing that symbol to a monarch.

Soviet Grain Deal Has Far-Reaching Implications

By Mark BRAYNE

MOSCOW

Reuter - The official Soviet media have kept quiet over the new long-term grain deal with the United States, but western analysts see it as having far-reaching implications for Kremlin policy at home and abroad.

On the foreign front, it is the first Soviet step toward a treaty-based economic interdependence between communist and capitalist worlds advocated by many in the west as the firmest basis for peace.

At home, it represents an admission that state-run Soviet farming, presented for years as a model for the world, for the next few years at least, is unable to feed its people. This admission poses questions about leadership and ideology.

Despite the silence in the media, Soviet officials have welcomed the agreement as introducing a measure of order into mutual trade relations.

As announced in Washington, the agreement is to run for five years beginning next October, committing the Russians to buy at least six million tons of wheat and maize a year, no matter how good their harvest is.

In exchange, the United States has received assurances in a "letter of intent" that Moscow will sell a parallel accord some 10 million tons of oil a year - at present prices a rough balance of just under one billion dollars.

The agreement aims to stabilize Soviet grain purchases, and their effects on prices on the grain markets and in shops, by spreading them thinner but more evenly over a period of years.

As such it represents a major shift in Soviet attitudes to the world food supply problem, following Moscow's steadfast refusal as recently as last autumn at a food conference in Rome to establish links between its own agriculture and world production.

At that time, with a satisfactory 1974 harvest of 196 million tons and the prospects of a bumper 1975 harvest, the Russians could afford to stay aloof.

But an unforeseen summer drought cut grain production this year by an estimated 45 million tons below the 215 million ton target. It was their second crop disaster in four years.

This was despite a 10-year agricultural modernization program closely linked with Communist Party Secretary Leonid Brezhnev, and an unprecedented growth in investment giving the Soviet Union the world's highest level of agricultural subsidies. One possible domestic effect of the poor crop and the grain deal, some western observers here believe, will be to weaken the political standing of Brezhnev as he approaches next February's 25th Party Congress.

In 1972, with its disastrous harvest an it slurge, and uncontrolled, Soviet purchases on the American markets, a scapegoat for the failure was apparently chosen in former Agriculture Minister Vladimir Matskevich.

The following February he lost his post and was banished as ambassador to Prague. Now, some diplomats are suggesting, that his successor, Dmitry Polyansky, may face the same treatment.

But whatever the possible effects of this year's developments, one thing that has been abundantly clear is how badly the Kremlin felt it needed the deal.

According to informed sources here, every move in the long drawn-out negotiations was discussed "at the highest level," suggesting that the ruling politburo was closely involved.

Another pointer is that the final version of the pact gives the United States an escape clause to sidestep its commitments if its harvest goes below 225 million tons in any year. The Russians have to buy their six million ton quota regardless.

And the decision on the oil agreement, one which caused the most serious problem in the talks, must have been difficult for the Kremlin, wary of being seen to support the west in any way in its prices struggle with Arab oil producers.

Whether this will protect Polyansky and his superiors remains to be seen, but meanwhile he has made what could be interpreted as a veiled expression of nervousness.

In a speech two weeks ago he acknowledged that the crop was down, and said measures must be taken to prevent a repetition.

"We must implement a series of measures ensuring the reliability of grain harvests, the guaranteed raising of yields and gross output of grains and pulses," he told an agricultural workers' rally in Moscow.

The nature of the measures was not revealed, but on the evidence of the specialist press over the past few months, it appears that greater stress will be laid on "industrialized" agricultural production in large specialized units.

Since Brezhnev gave the system a resounding go-ahead in a speech at the beginning of last year, the theme has been picked up across the country, drowning out the now-faint voices urging a return to smaller units and a more personalized system of cultivation.

The debate, the deal with the Americans and this year's setback to production are not, however, being allowed to obscure the ultimate goal of agricultural self-sufficiency, where grain is accorded the leading role.

Chinese Repair Quake Damage

By Peter Griffiths

LUTA, Northeast China Reuter - Nine months after a devastating earthquake rocked northeast China a train journey across the region revealed ample evidence of the scale of the disaster. Main impressions of the trip, the first to the stricken area by a western journalist, was of large-scale reconstruction.

Though cracked and destroyed buildings were seen, entire towns and villages appeared either totally rebuilt or in advanced stages of construction.

Fields in the zone, south Liaoning Province, were studied with red flags as ant-like squads of peasants put the finishing touches to re-moulded terraces and irrigation canals.

Along roads army trucks and horse carts were transporting bricks. Building materials lined the railway.

The green uniform of the People's Liberation Army was everywhere to be seen. Troops were evidently playing a big part in the reconstruction.

Roads had been re-surfaced and, while some bridges were completely new, further from the epicenter bridges were supported by elaborate wood and steel props.

In Chaicheng, which has a population estimated at 80,000 people, every building visible from the train was either totally or partially rebuilt. The station appeared to have been reconstructed from the ground up and work was still going on.

Though an occasional tent community was seen in the countryside, rows of new houses in the re-built villages were of a sturdy mortar and stone construction - a great improvement over the traditional mud and wattle method.

As a Chinese official on the train pointed out, "Sometimes out of bad things come good."

Chinese cadres claim to have saved tens of thousands of lives by accurately predicting the quake, which shook the area just after dusk on February 4.

The disaster, which reduced Haicheng to an "unrecognizable" state, could have resulted in an "unthinkable high" death toll, according to the director of the provincial earthquake bureau, Chu Feng-Min.

A large portion of the three million people in the densely populated Haicheng-Yingkou region could have died in their beds had it not been for the diligent work of seismologists and part time earthquake prediction teams, he said.

Chu, interviewed in Shenyang, the provincial capital, said because of the "quick and resolute action" of the Liaoning community party committee, casualties had been quite light.

He was unable to give total figures for the quake, which measured 7.3 on the Richter scale, but had investigated deaths on a commune and a the number of earthquakes equivalent to a village.)

Of the 3,000 people in the brigade, only four were killed. Two of them because they refused to leave their homes.

Twenty-six of the commune's 30,000 inhabitants died. The entire population of the stricken area was around three million.

Chu was convinced that in most cases people had been killed because they were too stubborn or stupid to heed advice to quit their houses.

Surprisingly, casualties in the two main cities, Haicheng and Yingkou were lighter than those in the countryside, he said. This was because the close-knit city population could be more easily mobilized for evacuation than in the country, where communications were more difficult.

Though stressing that loss of life had been minimized, Chu did not deny there had been physical devastation in the quake zone.

He described Haicheng, which he visited on the morning of February 6, as "unrecognizable."

"Entire buildings had collapsed into the streets, in some cases the walls had collapsed but the framework was intact. Reinforced concrete buildings had partially collapsed. Factory chimneys had snapped off in the middle."

"Although we knew the quake was coming there was no time to protect factories and machinery. I saw machines destroyed after plants caved in. Dams and bridges were damaged - some bridges had disintegrated and some seem to have sunk."

Chu added that the main Shenyang-Luta railway had also been hit, but was quickly repaired.

Two seismologists had experienced the brunt of the shock while driving in Haicheng county.

Gourmet First-Course Salad

"Mushrooms Vinaigrette a la Iceberg" can be the answer to the gourmet's dilemma of what to serve for a first-course salad. Taste buds will awaken when introduced to this tangy yet subtle treatment of mushrooms mixed with chopped green pepper, pimiento and ripe olives which mellow in an oil and vinegar marinade and are served atop crisp wedges of western iceberg lettuce, the nation's favorite salad green.

Your guests' delight in this simple yet elegant salad far outweighs your effort to prepare it.

Mushrooms Vinaigrette a la Iceberg
1 head western iceberg lettuce
2 1/2 cup corn oil
1/4 cup white wine vinegar
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/8 teaspoon black pepper
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons chopped ripe olives
2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
1/2 teaspoon salt

Core, rinse and thoroughly drain lettuce; refrigerate in plastic bag or plastic crisper. Rinse, pat dry and slice mushrooms. Combine oil, vinegar, mustard, pepper, green pepper, pimiento and olives; mix well. Pour over mushrooms and toss lightly to coat. Chill for an hour or longer. Just before serving, add salt; stir to blend. Using sharp knife, cut lettuce head lengthwise into halves. Place cut-sides down; cut each half into halves or thirds for 4 to 6 wedges. Place on chilled serving plate or individual plates and spoon mushrooms and dressing over lettuce wedges.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Yoe Pounds Eagles To Remain On Top, 20-0

Trick or treat? The treat was to the Cameron fans who watched their undefeated Yoemen pound the Hearne Eagles 20-0 in District 23AA action Friday night at Yoe Field.

The trick was Aaron Miller who churned 126 yards in 24 carries followed by Joey Mondrik who had two touchdowns and 43 yards rushing. David Rosemond penetrated the goal line once and tallied 32 yards for the winning effort.

The Yoemen scored once in the second quarter and then twice in the final stanza to remain on top in District 23AA and to keep their unblemished 8-0 record. Ball control and the Yoe defense was indeed the winning characteristic, with the Yoemen running 60 offensive plays to the Eagle's 36. The Yoe Fence only allowed the Eagles to tally two first downs, both of which were in the first half.

Michael White returned to his starting quarterback position after a two-week absence and found his aerial attack to be of little help completing 3 of 5 passes for 18 yards four of the attempts were launched in the opening quarter. Hearne QB Melvin Bates completed one of six for a six yard total.

The game began to look like a carbon copy of the Elgin game with the Yoemen only scoring once in the first half. Neither team could generate an offense until the Yoemen started with 8:04 remaining in the half.

The drive took only 6 plays to cover the 59 yards. It took only 1:30 seconds before David Rosemond took the ball and eluded through the Eagles turning twice and accelerating into the end zone with the determination of a Sherman tank. Joey Mondrik tacked on the extra point and the Yoemen led 7-0.

As the half time buzzer sounded the Yoemen had marked the field for 6 first downs and gathered in over 111 yards rushing to the Eagles' 35 yards rushing and 2 first downs. The Yoemen had punted the ball 3 times for 38.3 average while the Eagles were forced to punt 4 times for a 28 yard average.

The third quarter was an instant replay of the first quarter with the Yoemen and Eagle defense taking the spotlight.

When the arms fly above their hands and the Yoemen wave and chant 'fourth quarter', it can be defined, 'Let the opponents beware.'

The hands were the only thing making waves. Aaron Miller blasted through the Eagles like an Apollo blast at Cape Canaveral when his elusive style gained 90 yards in the final stanza.

Seven plays in a row Aaron Miller carried the pork and dodged the Eagles like a submarine dodging a mine field and covered 45 yards to set up the second Yoe touchdown.

Joey Mondrik got the next two calls and churned out the remaining 9 yards before he plowed into paydirt with 8:13 remaining. The six wasn't enough. One more time on the extra point that was signaled good and the Yoemen led 14-0.

The Yoe offense had been sparked and the Eagles were beginning to show the effects of what a talent-filled powerhouse ballclub can do.

The Yoemen regained possession of the pork after three downs and then all to remain was ball control and a TD.

It took 7 minutes for the Yoemen to cover 70 yards that culminated in Joey Mondrik's second touchdown of the evening. Aaron Miller punched in his time card for 39 yards on the drive.

Over the middle and standing tall, Joey Mondrik dipped into the end zone untouched for the final Yoe score with only 40 seconds remaining. Yisdoro Tamez attempted the PAT that sailed left of the uprights and the Yoemen sealed the lid on another District rival.

Frosh Whips Eagles In Final, 13-6

In the final game of the season for the Yoe freshmen a victory was in order and the order was filled with a 13-6 win over the Hearne freshman Thursday night at Eagle Field.

The Yoe freshmen closed their season with a 6-2 win-loss ledger falling to Leander and Austin Westlake.

The first half stood as a defensive standstill with the Eagles scoring late in the 2nd quarter of action.

A long pass-run play set the Eagles up for the score on when the halfback connected with the end for the touchdown. Their point after attempt failed.

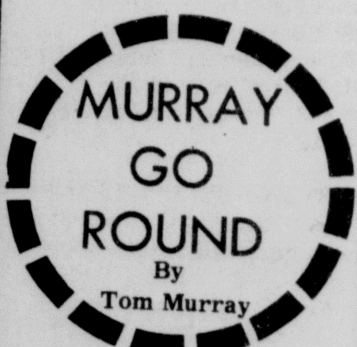

Before the halftime buzzer sounded Timmy Matthews was called on the field for a 23 yard field goal attempt that fell short of the uprights and was signaled short by the umpire. As the last seconds of the first half ticked off the Eagles retained their 6-0 lead.

The third quarter of play was in its last seconds before the Yoe freshmen attained good field position and as the horn blasted to end the third quarter, Norman White on a 18 sweep blasted around the end for the 6-yard touchdown. Tim Matthews booted the pork through the uprights and the Yoe freshmen took over command 7-6.

Behind defensive standouts Jimmy Zalesky and Connie Green the Yoe freshmen held off the Eagles and set up the next TD.

With only 2 minutes remaining in the season, Edward Johnson got off a 47 yard punt. The ball rested on the 2 yard line with the Eagles offense ining on the goal line. Jimmy Zalesky recovered a fumble on the one.

The opportunity existed and Chris Jenkins had the honors over left guard Steven Holias to score on the one yard plunge. The PAT failed and with only seconds remaining, Yoe led 13-6.

MOVING AROUND:

Jim Yarbrough, the talented sophomore Galveston Ball linebacker and Morgan Copeland, the Houston Westchester letterman junior linebacker, are both being redshirted at UT. Seems Darrell Royal has not only wound up with an abundance of backers, but is determined to space 'em out to better rebuild his program at Austin. Al Dennis, whose Baytown Sterling Rangers have advanced to the state 4A Finals, Semifinals and Quarterfinals the past three years, has a blue ribbon set of assistants. His backfield Coach Jerry Mohlman produced state Catholic Championships at Galveston O'Connell and those outstanding Sterling offensive lines are tutored by former TCU Horned Frog and TCU freshman line Coach Ray Branch. Branch is a former Victoria schoolboy star.

Sports Roundup

Tigers Down Lampasas

LAMPASAS

The Rockdale Tigers continued their winning ways Friday night as they presented a 29-6 win over the Lampasas Badgers in Lampasas. Martin Stroman carried the mail for the first R'dale TD on a 4-yard keeper with 8:04 left in the first quarter. Neither team could muster a score in the second quarter as both teams used a stifling defense. Lampasas got its only touchdown in the third period on a 2-yard run to cap a 68-yard drive that lasted 13 plays. Stroman and Mario Garza summed up the evening by presenting Rockdale with its last two TDs. Rockdale is now 8-1 in the season and 3-0 in district play.

Westlake found the deficit greater than New York City and came back with five TDs, in the second half.

Eagles Squeeze 'Dogs, 13-6

ROGERS

The Rogers Eagles squeezed past the Thorndale Bulldogs 13-6 in a tough fought district battle. The Bulldogs opened the scoring on a three yard touchdown run by halfback Glen Schwarz and the PAT boot was wide to the left of the uprights. The Eagles soared by on a 27-yard scamper followed by the PAT by Brayn Grygors that was signaled good. The Eagles scored again in the fourth quarter when quarterback Larry Clowers plunged in from one yard out to give the Eagles control, 13-6. Rogers is now 8-0 for the year and 5-0 in district while Thorndale is 4-1 in district.

Mustangs Crush Cougars

MANOR

The Manor Mustangs defeated the Rosebud-Lott Cougars 28-14 in the District 23AA contest in Manor Friday night. Eac team scored their first TD during the first period with the Mustangs breaking the game open with two scoring drives in the second period. QB Greg McMahan scored on a 14-yard run to move the Mustangs to a 21-7 lead at the half. Rosebud-Lott matched scores with the Mustangs but could never make up for ground lost in the first half. # 'Shoobox' Operation Provides Eyes For Needy

When started more than 40 years ago, it was an operation that could have, and in fact did, fit in a shoebox. Now, supported by a dedicated and efficient corps of volunteers, it gives the gift of sight to many thousands of poor people around the world every year.

It's a non-profit, non-sectarian organization which has donated countless dollars worth of eye care through the years, but has never solicited any money from the public.

And despite the fact that its finances are almost totally dependent upon discarded eyeglasses, broken jewelry, and metal scrap, "New Eyes for the Needy" is alive and well and constantly growing at its headquarters in Short Hills, New Jersey.

New Eyes was founded during the depression year of 1932 by Mrs. Arthur Terry, a volunteer at a Red Cross food depot in New York City. While working there, Mrs. Terry realized that many applicants had eyesight so bad they could not form their signatures without help. So she rounded up old eyeglasses from friends and put them in a shoebox on her desk for the poor to try on.

That is how New Eyes was born and its work since then has been truly fantastic.

Last year, more than 1,113,967 pairs of glasses were donated to New Eyes. Volunteers, mostly housewives, test and sort the glasses with distribution following to medical missions throughout the world. The metal scrap is melted down and the money from the reclamation is used to establish funds at 85 hospitals in 32 states.

The volunteers aren't too selective about the form a donation sometimes takes. Among the gifts the organization has gladly accepted (and turned into cash) are a silver picture frame and a 1902 sewing machine.

Prizes Offered In Poetry Contest

A $1,500 grand prize will be awarded in the current Poetry Contest sponsored by the World of Poetry, a monthly newsletter for poets. Poems of all styles and on any subject are eligible to compete for the grand prize or for 49 other cash or merchandise awards. Second place is $500.

Rules and official entry forms are available by writing to: World of Poetry, 801 Portola Dr., Dept. 211, San Francisco CA 94127. Contest deadline is November 30, 1975.

But the backbone of the operation is the marvelous corps of volunteers, drawn almost entirely from the Short Hills area. Still their efforts would be fruitless without continued public support.

The "shoobox" will always have room for more glasses, discarded jewelry, and old silverware. Please send donations to New Eyes for the Needy, Inc., Short Hills, New Jersey 07078.

THIS YOUNGSTER is one of the thousands of children and adults who could not have experienced the thrill of clear sight without the help of New Eyes for the Needy.

Bill Clayton To Attend Reception

"We are very honored that the Speaker will be able to attend, as will former Speaker Price Daniel, Jr., who is also serving as honorary chairman of the reception," said Jack Welch of Marlin, one of the reception organizers.

The reception will be in Taylor's Knights of Columbus Hall, located just east of Taylor on the Rockdale highway, and begins at 7 p.m. on Nov. 11. Cold beverages, sausage and kraut will be served, and live music will be provided.

Tickets or information are available by calling 512-446-2887 or 446-2839 in Rockdale or by writing Box 272 in Rockdale, 76567, Welch said.
